Where the season is taking root.

Pansies
April is the perfect month for planting pansies. These cold-tolerant annuals flower continuously from April to June. And at Telly's, we grow our pansies to be tough as nails so that they thrive even in the harshest of conditions.

Perennials
Everyone knows about Telly's huge perennial selection. But did you know that each Spring, we also feature starter perennials in small pots for only $2.99? And, if you purchase 20 or more (Mix and Match), the price drops to $2.00! This starter program features over 100 varieties, including creeping phlox, butterfly bush, variegated perennials, and much more.

Hellebores
Our hellebore selection is second to none. These low-maintenance, shade-loving perennials are the first hellebores to bloom each Spring. We have over 2000 hellebores available, many of which are blooming now!

Spring-Blooming Bulbs
Now in stock: small pots of your favorite spring-blooming bulbs. These bulbs are ready to plant in your garden, in outdoor containers, or keep them potted on your windowsill. Choose from hundreds of tulips, daffodils, hyacinths, and more.

Plant Focus: Pasque flower

by George Papadellis

The spring days are growing longer, the birds are quickly emptying the feeders, and the flowers have begun to emerge. Bulbs like crocus and daffodils are in bloom, but in time, only the old, tattered foliage will remain. Some of the woodland wildflowers, like trillium and bluebells, are also in color, but they too will quickly disappear.

Botanically referred to as Pulsatilla vulgaris, pasque flower sends up purple, reddish, pink or white 2-1/2 inch flowers in April and May. These flowers have 6 large petals (actually sepals) and a bright yellow center. After flowering begins, the spring leaves emerge and are equally showy. These leaves are exceptionally ornamental.

How to control slugs in your garden

by Nancy Szerlag

Slugs are the bane of many gardeners' existence. In the dark of night these slimy characters creep away at the garden, leaving it in tatters by sunrise. A mild winter combined with a cool, wet summer can send the dreaded slug population soaring. And a single slug will eat 30 to 40 times its weight in vegetation daily, so a handful of slugs can do a great deal of damage in a short period of time.

Adding the garden of slugs is a hard fought battle for many gardeners. Commercial slug baits containing metaldehyde are not recommended because they are highly toxic to small animals, children and birds. Also, if used regularly, the slugs seem to build up immunity to the ingredients.

Products with iron phosphate are both effective and easy to use for controlling slugs.

Hot Off the Press: Midwest Gardener's Handbook

by Melinda Myers

The updated second edition of Midwest Gardener's Handbook (Cool Springs Press, 256 pages, $26.99) addresses the many challenges of growing in the Midwest, including a changing climate and unique soil and pest troubles. The author profiles more than 250 plants proven to thrive in the north central U.S., including shrubs, perennials, annuals, vegetables, fruits, herbs, and vines, which help you select the best plants to create a beautiful landscape or a high-yielding edible garden.

Month-by-month care and cultivation guides are offered for each plant group. The how-to methods for planting, pruning, watering, and fertilizing contain essential information for Midwestern gardeners.

Ask the Experts

We pruned our globe blue spruce late last fall and it looked bad this spring. Will new growth be enough to fill it in again? Should we not prune it at all? When should it be pruned? J.D., New Lotrop, MI

Beverly Moss, Garden Rhythms: Picea pungens 'Glauca Globosa' is an attractive dwarf conifer that grows slowly to about 4 feet tall and only slightly wider. Its blue foliage and disciplined size make it a desirable conifer in the residential landscape. beautiful landscape or a high-yielding edible garden. Month-by-month care and cultivation guides are offered for each plant group. Frequency Discounts

- All ad rates are NET to Michigan Gardener.
- Advertisers contracted at a frequency discount rate who fail to place the minimum number of insertions to earn such a rate will be billed for the difference between the amount paid and the amount due under the frequency discount for which they qualify.

Specific Positions

- Specific position requests: add 20%.
- Specific position requests can be accommodated based on the layout of the issue. Position of ad is not guaranteed unless a position is specifically contracted.

Covers/Prime Positions

Add to ad rate

- Inside Front Cover 40%
- Page 3 45%
- Table of Contents 25%
- Page 5 30%
- Inside Back Cover 25%
- Publisher reserves the right to move a smaller ad with a prime position contract if a larger-sized ad contracts for the same position (e.g. a half-page ad would be moved from the inside back cover to another available page if a full-page ad contracts for the inside back cover).
- For both print and online prime positions, ad orders with more insertions take precedence over orders with fewer insertions (e.g. an order for a 12-month Leaderboard position would take precedence over a 6-month order for the same position).

Center Advertising Section

- One Center Section is available in each issue. It is printed on the same paper as the cover, which is heavier than the inside body pages. This section is a 4-page, full color section stitched into the center of the magazine, and it is your space exclusively.
- Pricing includes printing and insertion costs, as well as design and layout (photos are not included).
- Please contact us for more details.

Ad Approval Process

- Proofs of ads prepared by the publisher are forwarded to the advertiser for approval. Ad proofs must be approved by the advertiser prior to publication.
- Advertisers have final responsibility for error detection.

- If time constraints eliminate the proof/approval process or if the advertiser does not respond in a timely manner, the contract for space reservation prevails and the advertiser agrees to full payment for the preparation and printing of the ad, regardless of possible error.
- The publisher is not responsible for errors in provided camera-ready copy or ad proofs approved by the advertiser or the advertiser's representative.

Release Fees

- Michigan Gardener holds the copyright to all ads produced by Michigan Gardener. To reuse the ad in other media, a release fee is required: Black & white ads: 10% of ad cost ($95 minimum). Color ads: 10% of ad cost ($195 minimum).

Ad Cancellations

- Cancellation of advertisements must be submitted in writing and received by the publisher before the deadline entitled "Ad Materials Due." Cancellations are not accepted after this deadline.
- If advertiser does not cancel advertising as described in "Ad Cancellations":
 1. Advertiser shall remain responsible for any and all obligations in the advertising contract, including but not limited to payment obligations.
 2. Advertiser's previous ad will be printed in the contracted issue or the ad space will be replaced at the discretion of the publisher.

Payment - Account Terms

- All 1x ads must be paid in advance.
- All first-time ads must be paid in advance.
- Publisher reserves the right to apply frequency discounts as a rebate on the final ad insertion of the ad order.
- Publisher reserves the right to require credit references to approve credit.
- Invoices will be considered delinquent if payment is not received within prescribed terms and will be subject to a monthly 1.5% finance charge. Account delinquency may prevent the advertiser from reserving space in future issues.
- If payment is not received within approved terms, frequency and camera-ready deductions shall be forfeited.

- Tearsheets are typically sent with invoices, but failure to do so does not remove the advertiser's responsibility to pay any invoice according to the stated terms.
- In the event that collection action is necessary, all collection costs and attorney fees can be recovered from the advertiser.

Additional Contract Conditions

- The publisher reserves the right to reject or omit any portion of an advertisement for any reason.
- Neither the advertiser nor the publisher will be responsible for misinformation, typographical errors, omission, etc., contained therein.
- The publisher is not liable for failure to provide advertising space or to publish an ad due to circumstances beyond the publisher's control.
- The publisher shall not be liable for typographical errors which do not lessen the value of an advertisement. Ad rate adjustments for advertising errors will be based on the opinion of the publisher as to what percentage the error detracts from the total advertising message. In order to make such adjustments, the publisher must be notified in writing before the advertising deadline for the issue following the issue containing the discrepancy. Compensation will be in the form of credit for future advertising or deduction from any outstanding invoice.
- In no event shall the publisher's liability exceed the total amount paid to the publisher by the advertiser under the terms of the advertising contract. Additionally, in no event shall the publisher be liable for damages of any kind which are related to or which may arise from the loss of business or profits of the advertiser.
- Advertiser agrees to indemnify and hold the publisher harmless from and against any and all claims of loss, personal injury, or property damage by the advertiser or third parties which arise out of or which are related to the content of the ad or use of the advertiser's products or services.
- Unless otherwise expressly stated in the terms of the advertising contract, the publication of the advertiser's ad by the publisher is in no way an endorsement or recommendation by the publisher of the advertiser's products or services.
